TEN CENTS PER WEEK

JACKSONVILLE, ILLINOIS, FRIDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 4, 1903.

PRICE THREE CENTS

RELIANCE WON FINAL RACE

FAMOUS SEA TROPHY WILL REMAIN HERE.

Third Attempt of Lipton to Lift the Cup Fails—Dense Fog Interferes with View of Contest—Sympathy for Lipton.

New York, Sept. 3.—The Reliance to day won the third and final race for the famous sea trophy, the America's cup. In a dense fog which prevented vision beyond 200 yards she finished the race at 5:30:02 amid the acclamations of the assembled fleet. Shamrock III after running for more than an hour in the fog, missed the finish line, passed by it and then returned to it from an opposite direction. As the Reliance was then being towed through the fleet of yachts the ensign fluttered from her truck and spreaders in celebration of her victory. The Shamrock did not cross the finish line. As often said of the historic race when the America won the cup, there was no second.

This successful result was achieved only after four futile attempts to sail off the final race and after the outcome had been admitted by even Sir Thomas to be a foregone conclusion.

To day's was the eighth attempt to the sail race. After one fluke the Reliance won the two following races, one by 7 minutes, three seconds and the other 1 minute, 19 seconds. A week ago to day the first attempt to sail the third race failed and attempts had been made every day this week. On these occasions the Reliance led the Shamrock to the finish line by two miles, but failed to reach it before the expiration of the time limit, five and half hours.

To day's victory means the cup destined to remain in America until England is able to produce a genius equal to Herroff in yacht designing. Rarely if ever has there been a more spectacular finish than Reliance's to day. After racing for more than an hour at a terrific speed through a blinding fog the Reliance burst through the wall of mist upon the vision of spectators on the fleet assembled at the finish line and heeling under the great hallion jib topsail, until her lee rail was awash, flew across the finish line almost before the spectators could determine for a certainty that once more a Yankee boat had added to the long string of victories in contests for the honored old silver trophy that carried with it the blue ribbon of the sea.

A GOOD LOSER.
Highlands of Navesink, Sept. 3.—Lipton to night said that two weeks ago he was hopeful. Last week he knew he was doomed to defeat and was disappointed, but to day he was almost glad in his own defeat. "This America," he said, "has been a thoroughly generous victor," and thanked the American people for their generosity to him in his defeat. Lipton said the crew will return to England next Tuesday. Regarding the Shamrock's defeat he simply said: "The American boat is the better, that is all."

Captain Wringe said: "We did the best we could, but the other boat was the best."

Captain Barr: "The Reliance is a beautiful boat; had all kinds of weather and won in it. Our diversities did the best they could with the material at their command."

Oliver Ila gave the boat, crew and captain credit for the victory and complimented Lipton on his brave fight.

Sir Thomas and Iselin exchanged visits to night and the former extended his congratulations to the latter.

SYMPATHY FOR LIPTON.
London, Sept. 3.—The final defeat of Shamrock III, was received in London with absolute listlessness. Most of the afternoon papers published a special edition announcing the result, but the announcement had already been discounted by dispatches giving the progress of the race. The consensus of opinion is Lipton has done everything time and money could accomplish and widespread sympathy for him is shown. The chief hope is that Canada will enter the lists next year and possibly succeed where the mother country has failed. It seems improbable that in view of the failure of Shamrock III, another challenger will soon be dispatched from England.

Glasgow, Sept. 3.—Announcement of the Reliance's victory was received here with a feeling akin to relief, the long drawn contest was ended. The most sanguine of Shamrock's supporters did not expect the challenge to make more than a fair show for day. Uniform regret is expressed at Lipton's failure after making such a persistent effort to secure the America's cup.

REPORTS TEXAS FEVER.
San Antonio, Sept. 3.—State Veterinarian after investigation reports Texas fever is not present in the herd of cattle at San Antonio and that two have died of Texas fever. The herd has been quarantined.

THE MILLER CASE

His Discharge From Government Printing Office Looked for Any Day.

Washington, Sept. 3.—The Star says the Miller case at the government printing office is nearing an end and the discharge of Foreman Miller may be looked for any day, in the opinion of officials who have been following the case. It is said Commissioner Garfield investigated charges filed by Miller against the binders' union, but they were not sustained. The Star says the president is anxious the matter shall be disposed of and publicly announced before Labor day, when he is to make a speech at Syracuse.

CHURCH CASE IN COURT.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 3.—The case of Bishop Bonacum of the Catholic diocese of Lincoln against Father Murphy, of Seward, has reached the Nebraska supreme court. The appeal of the bishop in the district court was filed to day. The transcript is voluminous and alleges many errors on the part of the trial judge. In support of the contention communications from the prefect of the propaganda at Rome, Cardinal Gotti, in his own handwriting and certified to by the American consul as to their authenticity are submitted. Father Murphy, although excommunicated, is still holding the church at Seward and has ignored commands to vacate. The bishop sought to enjoin him in the district courts, but the decision was in favor of Murphy.

THE GOLFERS

Only Eight Players Left to Fight for Championship.

Glenview, L. I., Sept. 3.—Only eight golfers are now left to continue the fight for the amateur golf championship of the United States and the result of to morrow's play will determine the two men who will fight out the final battle for national honors Saturday. The survivors are:

Paul Murphy, Gardin City, N. Y.; F. O. Reinhardt, Baltusrol, N. J.; Walter J. Travis, Gardin City; George T. Brookes, Deal, N. J.; W. R. Tuckerman, Stockbridge, Mass.; E. M. Byers, Allegheny, Pa.; S. D. Cany, Rock Island, Ill.; Bruce N. Smith, Onwentsla, Ill.

The defeat of the two Egans was a hard blow to the westerners. Both had been picked as semi-final survivors.

PRESIDENT CONGRATULATED.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 3.—The president received to day many telegrams congratulating him upon escape from the hands of Henry Wellbrenner, the insane farmer. Owing to the large number of messages he was unable to answer them, but appreciates the spirit in which they were sent. The secret service force has been increased since Wellbrenner's arrest.

AFTER SPIES.

Rome, Sept. 3.—A congress of students held to day at Udine, near the Austrian frontier, was the occasion for an anti-Austrian demonstration. Two or three supposed Austrian spies discovered during the meeting were seized and threats made to burn them alive. Police, however, rescued them from the mob.

ABSCONDER ARRESTED.

Victori, Sept. 3.—H. C. Miller, alias Alfred E. Lyford, was arrested here last night on a telegram from Rock Island, Ill., police identifying him as the ex-deputy treasurer of Rock Island county, who absconded July 5, 1902, with $12,000 county funds. Lyford made a complete confession and will waive extradition.

OPPOSED TO BULGARIA.

Vienna, Sept. 3.—Before leaving Vienna King Edward had a conference with Premier Count Goluchowski on the Balkan situation. It is semi-officially stated the king expressed disapproval of the attitude of Bulgaria and declared Great Britain adhered to the Russo-Austrian policy.

LITCHFIELD ENGINE WORKS

Are Incorporated with a Capital Stock of $100,000.

Litchfield, Ill., Sept. 3.—The Litchfield Engine Machine company has been incorporated with a paid up capital of $100,000. The incorporators are: D. D. Settlemyre, G. L. Settlemyre, Frank R. Milnor, C. W. Beardsley, M. Morrison and C. B. Mun-day.

It has been announced that the new company will erect a large manufacturing plant on what is known as the Atterbury tract just south of the corporate limits of the city of Litchfield, and that they will manufacture engines and a general line of machinery. D. O. Settlemyre, whose name leads the list of incorporators, is known throughout the United States as a successful manufacturer of railroad cars and equipment, and it is hinted that the new manufacturing plant will be converted into a car manufacturing plant soon after it is ready for operation. The other incorporators are well known business men at Litchfield, and are identified with the Litchfield Bank & Trust company.

FIGHT WITH INSURGENTS.

Manila, Sept. 3.—Jolo constabulary came in conflict with a body of insurgents in the province of Cavite near Laguna de Bay and killed twenty of them during a sharp engagement. The constabulary had a man killed during the fight. Reinforcements were sent to the scene of the disturbance.

Gabriel Gabea, a native of Leyte, sued Maor Glenn, of the Fifth infantry, some months ago for 15,000 pesos damage for false imprisonment. He was arrested by order of Glenn on suspicion of aiding Samar insurgents. Gabea now offers through Governor Taft that if Glenn will admit imprisonment as an insurgent sympathizer was a mistake he (Gabea) will at once withdraw the damage suit. This offer was promptly declined by Glenn.

CANAL SITUATION.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Calvo, Costa Rican minister, spent some time at the state department to day in conversation with Secretary Hay about the canal situation. Until Sept. 22, when the time for ratification of the Hay-Herran treaty expires, the Nicaraguan and Costa Rican governments appreciate it would be improper for the United States to open negotiations looking to construction of the canal by another route unless meantime the Colombian congress shall formally reject the treaty, which it has not yet done.

Panama, Sept. 3.—Reports from Bogota are that the greatest confusion reigns among government supporters, while the opposition is united. Nationalists expect a victory at the next election and want themselves to make a canal treaty, believing that if President Marroquin is able to sign one it will be difficult to overthrow him.

GLASS WORKERS DISSATISFIED.

Pittsburg, Sept. 3.—Dissatisfaction among members of the Association of Window Glass Workers of America over the agreement entered into by their officers to withhold the wage scales until time is fixed for general resumption has resulted in a movement to form a third organization of skilled glass workers in order to enable independent concerns to start their plants with union men.

HELD THEIR FIRST MEETING

ALASKAN BOUNDARY COMMISSION IN SESSION

Oral Arguments Will Begin Sept. 15 and End Oct. 9—Abstract of the Case of the United States.

London, Aug. 3.—The Alaskan boundary commissioners held their first meeting to day in the conference room of the foreign office. Prior to the final assembling the commissioners met in the private conference room and selected Reginald Tower, of the British diplomatic service, formerly attached to the legation at Washington, and recently minister to Siam, to be secretary of the commission. R. Eckart, second secretary of the United States embassy and Mr. Pope, representative of the Canadian government, were appointed assistant secretaries. Lord Chief Justice Alverstone was subsequently chosen chair man of the commission.

It was announced oral arguments are to commence Sept. 15, and Alverstone expressed hope they would be able to finish by Oct. 9.

Secretary Root and Senator Lodge left London to night for Lord Roberts' country home in Surrey. Lodge will to morrow go to Paris, where he will join his wife. He will remain there until Sept. 14. After a week end visit to Lord Alverstone, Root will go to Legard, Carter's place in Scotland. Senator Turner remains in London. Root and Lodge hope to sail for home Oct. 21.

Washington, Sept. 3.—The abstract of the case of the United States before the Alaskan boundary tribunal, documents covering the American presentation of the case, comprise three volumes, a total of 1,100 pages. In addition there are also two volumes of maps. The largest volume of the text contains the original statement by the American commissioners while one of the smaller volumes presents the American counter case in rejoinder to the British case, and other arguments of American commissioners. In the first volume the question at issue, namely, what is intended to be a point of commencement of the line of demarcation between the United States and Canada, what is Portland canal, what course the line should take to the entrance of that channel, to what point the 66th parallel line should be drawn from the head of Portland canal and other familiar questions are discussed. Also an extensive discussion as to the extent of the strip of territory along the coast on the mainland that Russia conveyed to the United States by the treaty of 1867. The United States contends that the intention of the powers which signed the treaty of 1825, confirm in full sovereignty to Russia the continuous strip along the continental shores of the northwest coast of America, extending from the Portland canal to the 141st meridian, longitude west, Greenwich, and that such strip was to be ten marine leagues measured from the heads of all gulfs and inlets unless there was within that distance a range of mountains. The contention is further made there is no such mountain range. It is also urged the United States occupied this strip of territory ever since acquisition from Russia and that Russia controlled it since the treaty of 1825, until ceded to the United States in 1867.

In the counter the American commissioners make rejoinder to a point covered in presentation of the British side of the case which appears to contain twenty or more documents hitherto not given public. Additional evidence referred to bears upon negotiations, which took place between Great Britain and Russia during the years 1823 to 1825, and it is contended this new evidence in no way alters any material contention made in the original allegations but on the contrary confirms and strengthens the position of the United States. In support of the American contention the strip should measure from tide water and from the heads of bays and inlets, a number of depositions are produced in connection with the counter case, showing occupation of this strip by settlers of the United States since 1885. Discussing the boundary proposed by Great Britain the commission makes reference to the instability of the Canadian contention on this point and concluded the United States has maintained by one interpretation of the treaty since its position has been open and known to the world. It is the same which was presented the tribunal in its case and which is now reiterated in this counter case.

EVANGELIST IN JAIL.

Marshalltown, Iowa, Sept. 3.—A man said to be F. A. Mason, a singing evangelist, who is wanted in several cities in this and other states on charge of obtaining money unlawfully, is in jail here. REPORT IS UNFOUNDED

Secretary Shaw Makes Statement Regarding Increased Bank Deposits.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—The published report government deposits of national banks are to be materially increased was declared by Secretary Shaw to be unfounded. He made the following statement to day:

"notice some newspaper accounts to the effect an amount to increase the deposits of public money to the extent of $40,000,000, it is true, have $40,000,000 available for deposits, if conditions should hereafter render expedient to make so large an increase. For the present I am accepting only applications for small amounts that have been on file several months and am confining these to agricultural districts."

Washington, Sept. 3.—Secretary Shaw within the last few days has made deposits in several national bank depositories in different parts of the country. The amount deposited it is thought will approximate $2,500,000. These deposits are believed to have been made in sections of the country where stringency is threatened on account of approaching crop movement.

Amherstburg, Ont., Sept. 3.—A unique international thing was given the camp of the Windsor battalion of the Twenty-first Essex fusiliers here to day by a visit from the Detroit division of the Michigan naval reserve and Company C, First regiment, Michigan national guards. The Canadians have been in camp here several days and invited the Yankee soldiers to spend the day with them. On arrival at Amherstburg the Yankees were welcomed by red coats standing at attention at the dock, while their band played "The Star Spangled Banner." The troops then paraded together to the camp grounds. During the afternoon a series of military maneuvers was given by the troops. The naval reserves took with them their machine gun and its shrill crack was the feature of their drill.

Nyack, N. Y., Sept. 3.—Former Senator Hill at the county fair spoke on combinations. He said: "The tremendous combinations of capital which have been formed in recent years whereby prices of living are unduly advanced; the multitude of schemes devised to control channels and avenues of trade; the unreasonable restrictions imposed by statute upon our commercial freedom in the pecuniary interest of those who ostentatiously style themselves captains of industry are largely modern creations of able and designing men, intent upon vast and unearned riches, and are neither sanctioned by scriptural injunction nor can they be justified by an honest and unselfish public policy."

MAKES SPEECH DEPLORING RECENT OUTRAGES

His Decision is For Welfare of Turkish Population—Bulgarians in Roumania are Ordered to Come Home.

Constantinople, Sept. 3.—On the anniversary of accession Tuesday the sultan received in audience at the palace the heads of religious communities and the ecclesiastical patriarch made a speech of congratulations. In reply thereto, after thanking the patriarch and others present for good wishes, the sultan, contrary to precedent, spoke at some length. In his speech the sultan declared all his desire was for the welfare of the population without distinction of race or religion. And referring to the revolutionary movement now on foot in his dominions he said he was convinced the movement did not proceed spontaneously from the population, but was instigated from abroad. The sultan personally assured the Armenian patriarch his words applied to Armenians as well as people of other nationalities.

Bucharest, Sept. 3.—M. Svetkoff, agent here of the Macedonian committee, was arrested for extorting by menace of death subscriptions to the founder of the revolutionists. Police discovered receipts signed by Boris Saraff, revolutionary leader, for sums aggregating $5,000. Svetkoff had been in the habit of crossing the frontier to send money to Saraff.

DROWNED IN RIVER

Claude Smith of Whitehall Finds Watery Grave at Beardstown—Gasoline Launch Exploded.

Claude Smith, 24 years of age, was drowned in the Illinois river at Beardstown Wednesday evening and four companions who were with him in a gasoline launch narrowly escaped with their lives. The five young men were telegraph operators at Beardstown and Wednesday evening they chartered a gasoline launch for a ride on the river. They had only been out a short time when the gasoline engine exploded completely demolishing the end of the boat in which it was situated and also throwing the young men violently into the water, two of them being injured by the explosion. Smith was rendered unconscious by the explosion and before assistance could reach him he drowned. The other who was injured was rescued just in time to save him from a watery grave, as he was unconscious when taken from the water. Several parties in row boats happened to be near at hand when the explosion occurred and the immediate assistance given by them prevented others from drowning.

Claude Smith was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith, of Whitehall and his remains were sent back to his home, where the funeral will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The matter of water supply will and should not down and what to do is the question that troubles the city fathers. Their task is not easy.

The fire which terminated so fortunately as far as all other structures were concerned read a lesson which may be cheap if heeded in time. There is too much of a disposition to relax the enforcement of fire laws on the earnest plea of property owners who don't want to suffer loss for the good of the public. The Journal above all wants fair play to all citizens and greatly dislikes to see any person subjected to loss, but the public has rights too and a structure that menaces life and valuable property adjacent should have attention and that before an accident occurs.

"A COMBINE TO GET THE OFFICES."

Quincy Whig: On Tuesday of the present week a meeting of politicians of northern Illinois, which had been long heralded as a coming manifestation of the opposition to Governor Yates by the Chicago press, was held in the pleasant town of Rockford.
There were men present from twelve of the sixteen counties comprising the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth congressional districts of the state of Illinois. It was quite a different meeting from that held in Springfield a few days ago, in more than one respect, but chiefly in that it was representative of only a very small section of the state and did not announce itself positively on any other point than that it was for the offices, while the meeting at Springfield represented eighty-nine percent of the state and frankly declared that it was in favor of the re-election of Governor Yates as a rejection of the incessant attack of the present administration of the Republican party in this state.
The Rockford convention made no reference whatever to the government, which indicates that northern Illinois politicians, like politicians generally, if they are really politicians, are able to detect the distant meaning of an on-coming event when they place their ears close to the ground.

And how strange were the headlines over the lengthy story of the event contained yesterday in the Chicago Tribune, a newspaper that has a history from the time of the elder Trumbull of complaining about government who do not obey its whims. What troubled head-liner got in his work with the first portion of the heading,
and what sudden accident befell him
that another should have completed
it!

The headlines read:
FORM COMBINE TO GET OFFICES.

END OF YATES' CHANCES.

Gathering at Rockford Against Him—Lowden Only Favorite Son—Government Not Main Issue.

D. Watson, Rockford, Ill., Sept. 14.

A combine to get offices? And is such a combine to furnish the political finish of Governor Yates and revoke the Republican party for placing him in the governor's chair?
Does such a meeting resolving itself into a combine to get offices furnish the "end of Yates' chances?" It sounds very much like the slip the Tribune made when it spoke of a "combine" launching a "round robin" in the campaign of 1903, when the attempt to prevent the election of Senator Hopkins, an indirect rebuke to the state administration, failed so completely and ingloriously.

We will accept the name the Tribune has given to what it declares an opposition to Yates that will end his chances. Let us call it by the name which its mugwump friend, the Tribune, has given it—"a combine to get the offices."

The most important feature of the meeting, says the Tribune's report, was that it practically put an end to all chances Yates might have for a renomination. Had it not been for conservative action he might have got a vote of censure. A resolution which would have resulted in that was prepared, but it never was allowed to be introduced before the gathering.

Why was the resolution withheld?
The men who believed the present administration of the Republican party in Illinois should be censured to such an extent as to prepare a resolution declaring their conviction, in the name of manhood, did they introduce it. Was it because they feared that a majority of the Republicans in that gathering would hesitate to go on record as denouncing a Republican governor, thus causing them discomfiture and humiliation in their recreancy to their party?

Or did they, all at once getting their ears closer to Illinois terra firma, hear the protest against the continual and relentless abuse of Richard Yates and his administration—a protest from the masses of the party—not men who "combine to get offices," but that other vaster element of American citizenship which holds principles above offices or personalities?

If the opposition to Governor Yates to come from "combines to get offices," from disappointed politicians and office seekers, without any other ground for opposition, the masses of the state of Illinois will be found sustaining him on a record as clean as ever made by a governor of Illinois, a record on which the Republican party can safely depend before the tribunal of public opinion, a record against which every missile of abuse has either idly fallen to earth or recoiled upon its projectors.

Broke Jail and a Record.
Some days ago United States Marshal W. H. Mackey and a crowd of politicians were sitting in front of a Topeka hotel discussing different matters and things.

"Why do you keep so many federal prisoners in the Junction City jail?" asked one.

"Because we have such a good jail and fine jailer there," said Mackey. "There never was a jail delivery in Junction. It's a good place to keep bad men."

Just then a messenger boy came up and handed Mackey a telegram.
The marshal read it. He grew excited and began to pull his mustache.

"What's the matter?" some one asked.

"By thunder, Ed Mullins and some other desperate criminals have slain the jailer and escaped jail at Junction," And Mackey thereupon hit the trail for Junction City.—

Take Another Morning Nap.

If you are addicted to the morning nap habit, but have hesitated to indulge in it for fear of remarks from the family circle on the subject of your laziness, you may hereafter take that little snooze in peace, reflecting that in its enjoyment you are guilty of no moral offense, for an ingenious scientist has discovered that an extra hour's sleep daily will in one year amount to a saving of two and a half pounds of fat. So you see it is the need of saving flesh and not original sin that prompts one to lie in bed mornings. It is an effort on the part of nature to repair a waste of fatty tissues occasioned by mental or physical strenuousness.—

The Man Himself.

The Emerson centenary, which so many intelligent communities throughout this broad land honored themselves in honoring, furnished many interesting incidents, one of which is reported to us by a correspondent.

"Yes, I've heard a great deal about Ralph Waldo Emerson," said a matter of fact person, "but to my mind he was merely an essayist.
What did he ever do?"

"What did he ever do?" echoed an admirer of the philosopher.
"What did Ralph Waldo Emerson ever do? My dear sir, he didn't have to do anything? He was!"— Youth's Companion.

Why He Married Many Times.

When Tolstoy was preparing to write "Resurrection" he frequented the criminal courts of Moscow and St. Petersburg. He tells, in a letter to an American friend, how a big-game appeared one day before a Moscow judge. The man had married seven wives in three years. This he himself admitted.

"Why on earth," the judge asked,
"did you want to marry so many times?"

"In order, sir," he replied, "to find a good one, if possible."

Trees and Railroad Ties.

The annual demand for railroad ties is 400 for each mile of track, and the average life of a tie is seven years. It is an unusual acre of forest that has 300 trees that will make three ties each, and it takes fifty years to grow a tree that will make three ties. Therefore twenty-five acres of forest are necessary for every mile of track. Electric railways included, there are in the United States about 250,000 miles of road.

An Alliterative Roast.

In attacking Mr. Chamberlain in a speech before the Primitive Methodist conference the other day at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, the Rev. A. T. Guttery of Newcastle defined the present policy of the British government as a "reign of blood, bees and Birmingham."

ceased kidneys sound so they will

WOMAN AND FASHION

For a Little Girl.
For afternoon wear little gowns like the one illustrated are very modish for little girls. The one shown is made of mercerized linen in its natural color, and is made with a full gathered skirt held out around the bottom by properly ruffled petticoats and a blouse waist.

tucked across the shoulders. The sleeves are also full and are tucked both at the shoulder and above the cuff. Trimming the neck is a shaped band collar forming points over the shoulders and crossing in front of darker brown linen embroidered with yellow nasturtiums with their pale green leaves. The nasturtiums shade from those of pale golden yellow to deep brown yellow tones and harmonize most beautifully with the color of the dress and the brown of the collar.
A band of this same embroidery trims
the skirt just above the hem and forms the cuffs. This frock is an excellent model for cashmere or other light woolen materials of light colors.

The Tailor Made For Fall.

As in other years, the first fall suits are strictly tailor made affairs. They are a relief to the eye after the overornamentation of the summer frocks.

The long skirt coats seem to have settled themselves for the winter, but they have lost even the pretense of stole or shoulder cape. The seams are generally strapped in corset fashion.

They are single breasted, with hip and breast pockets, and the V neck is sharply pointed and finished with a narrow cord collar of the material or velvet.

The extremely plain up and down effect of these tailor made suits is not becoming to every one, so that the box pleated coats, which suit underdeveloped figures, will still be used.

The latest of these have immensely long skirt coats, extending almost to the hem of the skirt. They are fastened down the front as far as the waist line by silk cord loopings over a double row of buttons. These buttons are a decidedly striking feature of the suit.

Mannish Materials.

So called mannish materials will be much affected this autumn, says the New York Evening Post. Tweeds, serges and other rough cloths lead in popularity, and plaid effects promise to be prominent. Grays, browns, greens and several shades of purple will be fashionable colors, the last named being reserved for more elaborate gowns. Brown will probably be seen on the street more than any other color.

sole trimming of which is a long or-trich plume in white. The feather encircles the crown and the tip droops

Lines Mesh Dress Shields.

Dress shields of linen mesh are recommended. They have on the side to be worn next the dress a surface of fine fabric, while the mesh side next the skin has been rendered impervious to perspiration by special treatment.
Unlike rubber shields they are not heating.

reservation will be occupied for seven days by the First cavalry, the artill-

Capt. Ben Eich, who will drill the state rifle team for its defense of the Washburn trophy, is in camp, and expects that the eighteen candidates for positions on the team will reach here Monday. In addition to the eighteen candidates from the state at large, Springfield will contribute several candidates to the squad, and the trial

a precedent against drinking while on camp duty, Colonel Culver gave the three soldiers discharges. Walden was given a dishonorable release, and the other two honorable discharges.

CITY FATHERS HOLD SESSION

A HARMONIOUS AND UN- VENTFUL MEETING

Separation of Real Estate From City Limits—Removal of Un- safe Buildings and Water Sup- ply the Topics Discussed.

The council met in regular session Thursday night and dispatched business quite promptly. The principal subject discussed was the removal of certain lands from the city limits. The mayor brought up the question of unsafe buildings and the structure just east of the opera house was discussed and a committee appointed with power to act. Again the Widenham-Daub water proposition was placed before the body and they agreed to meet in a week and discuss it.

THE PROCEEDINGS.

The council met in regular session Thursday night with all present except Ald. Cobb and Vaught; Mayor Davis in the chair.

The clerk read a letter from the American Municipal League inviting the members of the council to attend a meeting at Baltimore.

Ald. Moore thought the highway committee should go.

Ald. Kennedy thought all the council would grace the occasion and asked if there were any passes.

No action.

Ald. McGinnis reported a complaint of the condition of East Court street just east of East street.

The mayor said it was the province of the sanitary committee to see to it.

Ald. Kennedy moved it be referred to the chief of police to settle and correct. Carried.

The clerk read an ordinance disconnecting certain lands from the city. This included Oak Lawn retreat and other lands.

Ald. Moore asked if the highway committee had been instructed to see into the matter.

Ald. Ticknor said only some land belonging to John Cherry had been referred and the committee had not been able to get together.

The mayor called for the reading of the entire measure.

Ald. Johnson asked for a map showing the land and it was produced. He wasn't sure but some of the land had been platted. The map was examined by the greater part of the aldermen and discussed informally.

Attorney Morrissey said the part which the map showed platted had been vacated, as the records showed, but he was not certain regarding some other parts.

Ald. Hildreth moved the adoption of the ordinance.

Ald. Johnson thought the council didn't know enough about it.

Ald. Goveia moved it be referred to the highway committee.

The mayor said there was territory along East Morton avenue which should be disconnected. That east of the C. & A. would probably never be built up and it was a real loss to the city. To keep the road up meant two bridges, much road grading, walks, street lights, etc., and these much exceeded in cost the income from the taxes. There was danger of damage suits from the bridges and the elevated walk necessary would be another source of cost. The matter should have attention and that with the two bridges especially should be cut off.

Ald. Johnson suggested a change in the proposed line and moved it be adopted.

The mayor doubted if it could be so changed.

Ald. McGinnis thought the Knoles stock yards should be out and the Tomlinson property.

The attorney said they must be on the border to get out.

Dr. Sharp, of Oak Lawn, said that the persons mentioned and several others wanted to get out. The reason they couldn't get out by this ordinance was because they would have to prepare a different measure from the one presented and if the one now in was passed the other would be forthcoming.

Much more desultory conversation followed and further examination of the map.

Ald. Johnson called for the city attorney's opinion.

The latter said to include some of the other property under discussion was peculiarly situated and would require peculiar proceedings, which would be tedious and retard the whole matter.

Ald. McGinnis thought the most important matter was to get the bridges out.

Ald. Goveia's amendment was voted on, to refer the whole matter to the highway committee to investigate and report.

The vote was a tie and the mayor voted no.

Ald. Moore thought the ordinance should not pass unless the bridges were out.

Ald. Johnson insisted that his amendment would do the work.

The mayor doubted if that could be done at once.

Ald. Moore moved the rejection of the ordinance because it was insufficient and have one proper brought in.

The mayor asked the aldermen not to throw out the whole thing, but have it amended.

Ald. Kennedy doubted if it could be done as suggested.

Ald. Moore's motion was voted on and was a tie and the mayor voted no.

The original motion was then brought up.

Ald. Moore said it meant that the city would have half the roads and bridges to keep up until another ordinance was presented and the people might never ask for it.

Ald. Babb moved the ordinance be referred to the attorney to change as desired by the council.

Ald. Kennedy opposed. He could see no gain by the motion; it was best to pass it and then get the rest of the objectionable territory out.

Ald. Babb's motion to refer the ordinance to the city attorney to prepare in accordance with the wishes of the council prevailed.

The mayor asked who was to bring up the matter of the barn east of the opera house.

Ald. Goveia said he had been on a committee to look after the property and it should be removed. If it caught fire during an opera house entertainment it would mean much loss of life.

Ald. Kennedy moved the matter be referred to the chief of the fire department and fire committee.

The clerk read the ordinance pertaining to such matters.

Ald. Goveia moved it be referred to the mayor and public improvement committee with power to act. Carried.

Ald. Babb wanted to know if the same law would not apply to the old brick on the city feed lot.

The mayor said he had notified Mr. Gordon to abate the nuisance.

Ald. Kennedy said they were going to make residences there.

Ald. McGinnis said there should be fire ladders on the opera house.

The mayor said the owner had that day faithfully assured him it would be done as soon as possible.

Ald. Kennedy thought some changes had made the building more unsafe.

The mayor and Ald. Babb explained that they thought it was safer than before. Dr. Gray had spent much money on the building and was to be commended, but should put up the escapes.

Ald. Kennedy asked about the dam at the pumping works.

The mayor said the cost seemed to be prohibitory. The iron pipe from the lake to the dam should be laid and thereby save much water.

Ald. Kennedy said most certainly something should be done.

Judge Kirby being present was given a chance to speak and referred to the ordinance regarding the Widenham-Daub proposition and said the proposers would like to know about its fate. He had prepared the ordinance both as a loyal citizen and attorney of the proposers. It was certainly time to do something regarding water supply. The lake water was undesirable; the dam needed repairs, and other expenses were called for.

Messrs. Widenham and Daub had gone to some expense on the word of a former council. They proposed to secure a water supply from a proper source ample in amount and good quality. The terms proposed were fair regarding water for the city, extension of the mains and other matters. He had examined the books of the water department and the receipts had at no time exceeded the current expenses. Messrs. Widenham and Daub proposed to supply three million gallons of good quality daily and offered fair terms for the purchase of the plant by the city.

The water rates proposed were regarded reasonable. He very much wished the council would meet with him and go over the ordinance, discussing it item by item.

It would cost the city nothing to try the scheme and it did not seem fair to shut these gentlemen off without giving them a chance. He had talked with many persons and none had failed to commend the measure.

Ald. Moore said the proposition certainly seemed fair and he moved the council meet in one week to discuss the matter. Carried.

The clerk suggested that it would be a good plan to place a copy of the ordinance in the hands of each alderman and he was instructed so to do.

When the matter of adjournment came up the mayor put the motion to adjourn till next Thursday night, but the fathers wanted that dollar for the special meeting and the council adjourned sine die, but will meet in a week.

ONE CENT DAMAGES

End of Sensational Breach of Promise Suit at Taylorville.

Taylorville, Ill., Sept. 3.—In the breach of promise suit of Mrs. Carrie Haslep against Fred Payne, an ancient Lothario of this place, the jury this morning brought in a verdict finding Mr. Payne guilty of having trifled with Mrs. Haslep's mature affections and fixed her damages at $1. She sued for $25,000. At the trial Mr. Payne brought in witnesses to testify that Mrs. Haslep was a woman of bad character and pleaded in justification of his failure to fulfill the marriage contract that he had discovered her perfidy. The trial has excited more than local interest and the verdict is variously interpreted. It means, of course, that Mr. Payne is in for the costs.

GUNTHER CUP CONTEST.

The finals in the Gunther cup golf contest were played Thursday and the Misses Robertson were pitted against each other, Miss Elizabeth finally winning the contest and the beautiful trophy by 4 up and 3 to play. The putting of Miss Katherine Robertson in this contest was exceptionally fine and several times she holed in from a distance of 12 to 15 feet. Considering the amount of playing she has done this season her game was exceptional. Captain Gunther, of Chicago, the donor of the cup, was expected to be present and make the presentation speech to the winner, but as he could not be here the trophy was presented by Dr. C. M. Brown. The cup itself is handsomely designed and the handwork about it shows that it has been engraved by an artist and it is indeed a most exquisite golf souvenir, of which its possessor may well be proud.

The semi-finals were played Wednesday and were between Miss Elizabeth Robertson and Mrs. James II. Dauskin, the former winning by 6 up and 5 to play, and Miss Charlotte Hayden and Miss Katherine Robertson, the latter winning by 7 up and 5 to play.

WEDDINGS ANNOUNCED.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Goyert, of Quincy, have issued cards announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Anna Louise, to George H. Farhart, to take place Sept. 17, at 8:30 p. m. at their residence, 703 North Twelfth street.

Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Winterbottom have issued invitations for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth, to Dr. Howard T. Carriel, Thursday evening, Sept. 17, at 8:30 o'clock in Grace church. They are to be at home after Oct. 4, in Coalbasin, Colo.

Rev. and Mrs. C. E. French and son, of New Bedford, Ind., the new pastor of Antioch Christian church, east of the city, reached here Thursday evening and until the arrival of their household goods they will be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Hulett. Mr. French has been in the ministry about eight years and is a graduate of Kentucky university. He certainly could not have more cordial or hospitable people for parishioners than he will find at Antioch and the relationship of pastor and people will doubtless be most helpful.

SURPRISE PARTY.

About twenty-five friends of Miss Nellie Anderson gathered at her home on Howe street Wednesday evening and treated her to a very pleasant surprise. Various amusements served to pass away the time and prizes were awarded to Misses Katie Hogan, Clara Devlin, Ethel Anderson, Albert Hogan, Wm. Flynn and Charles McHatten. Refreshments were served during the evening.

JUSTICE COURTS.

In Squire Reid's court Percy C. Langdon and Chester Bradley had a hearing for malicious mischief, being charged with destroying signals on the Alton road between Murrayville and Roodhouse. They pleaded guilty and were fined $25 and costs each.

AN EDITOR'S OPINION.

He says: "I have long been a sufferer from constitutional constipation and have used Re-Go Tonic Laxative Syrup. I found it an agreeable medicine and just the thing for men engaged in sedentary pursuits. I take pleasure in recommending Re-Go Tonic Laxative Syrup as safe and effective, without any griping or nauseating effects common to similar remedies." 25c, 50c and $1 bottles sold by Lee P. FILES PETITION Partello Wants Mandamus to Compel Auditor to Issue Him a Warrant.

William Z. Partello, of Chicago, yesterday filed in the Sangamon county circuit court a petition for a mandamus to compel State Auditor McCullough to issue to him a warrant for $28,000. Partello constructed some buildings at the Pontiac reformatory a number of years ago. The state completed them after he had failed and used some of his material. He has since been trying to get a large sum of money he claims to be due him. In 1901 the general assembly passed a bill appropriating $40,000 for this purpose, but the governor vetoed it after a number of sensational features had been added to the case. A few days ago Partello came here with a mandamus from Judge Smith in Chicago, but the auditor refused to respect it as there was no appropriation and the mandamus had been issued without notice of the proceedings being served. Partello reinstituted his suit yesterday, claiming that the governor signed the bill May 12, 1901, and the next day filed a veto.

NEW SHORT STORIES

The Persistence of Augustus.
Court officials returning from Streitz, where they attended the diamond wedding of the grand duke and duchess, say the grand duke told the following anecdote at the state dinner. Said his royal highness:

"Among the guests at my nuptials with the daughter of the Duke of Cambridge was the late King Ernest Augustus of Hanover, who, arriving somewhat late, discovered that Prince Consort Albert had assumed the prerogatives of the first guest, though they clearly belonged to him, Ernest Augustus. The prince consort had even gone so far as to sign the marriage contract before that document was submitted to the king of Hanover. Consequently Ernest Augustus was mad clear through, and, seeing that the procession to the dining room was forming, stepped up to Queen Victoria and offered her his arm. 'Excuse me, cousin,' she said; 'it was arranged that Albert is to conduct me.'"

"Never mind the arrangements," replied the king. "It is my privilege to conduct you, and I will exercise it to my fullest capacity." Saying this, he pressed Victoria's arm closely to his side.

"The queen tried to withdraw her arm and nearly succeeded, but Augustus caught her hand and held it as in a vise."

"You hurt," said Victoria, with a cry of pain.

"Very sorry indeed," replied the king, "but I won't let go of that royal hand. It's mine for this occasion, and don't you forget it." The queen finally saw there was no use protesting and marched away with his resolute majesty."

The Laugh Was on Gourley.
Mr. Gourley, a member of the Canadian house of commons, is noted for his intense hatred of the United States. Only a few weeks ago he made utterance that "the United States is a greater tyranny than Algiers."

Last summer, while a number of Americans were enjoying a trolley ride in a Canadian city, Gourley and an acquaintance happened to be on board. The meager criticisms which the Americans bestowed on things Canadian noted the vitriolic statesman. An Italian entered the car. He carried in his arms a large paper mache lion which he placed on the seat beside him.

"WHAT DO YOU THINK THIS IS—A CATTLE OAR?"

"Represents the strength and power of the greatest nation on the earth," said Gourley loudly, pointing to the lion.

"The creature which makes all others crouch and grovel," added the acquaintance.

"I should like to see any foreigner attempt to twist!"

Here the conductor interrupted: the patriot's declaration and drew from the Americans peals of derisive laughter when he addressed the Italian brusquely.

"Here you, take that blooming thing off the seat. What do you think this is—a cattle car?"

American Slang in French.

More than one friend of Paul du Chailu knows why he died poor. Though large sums of money were given him by persons who believed in his work, he was equally generous in giving to others. Both in London and Paris many stranded Americans owe their return passage to his generosity. He used to laugh himself sometimes at the manner in which he was "worked."

One night at the Alhambra, in London, Du Chailu was entertaining two sportive but impetuous young men from New York who had gone to him with letters of introduction. A friend who knew Du Chailu and was surprised to see him playing the host in this manner said in French:

"Hello, Paul. What are you doing here?"

"I am doing nothing," replied Du Chailu in French, knowing that his sportive acquaintances did not understand the language; "I am simply being done."

Rapid Transit in New York.

New York is a big town, all right, remarked Colonel Jack Flaherty, manager of the Majestic theater. "I never appreciated the geographical area so well as I did at 4 o'clock the other afternoon when I met a friend wearing a dress suit."

"What's the matter?" I asked. "Been out all night?"

"Oh, no, he answered. 'But I live in Brooklyn, and I'm going to take a Harlem car to the theater.'"

THE PRINCE OF FORGERS

Charles Becker, Just Released From Long Imprisonment.

A REMARKABLE CRIMINAL CAREER

Get $22,000 From National Bank of Nevada—Has Been a Model Prisoner—American Bankers' Association Will Not Pardon Him, as Rumored.

Charles Becker, known to detectives the world over as the king of forgers and to criminals as "the Dutchman," walked out of San Quentin (Cal.) state prison the other day, says a San Francisco letter to the Detroit News-Tribune, after serving a seven year sentence for the forgery of a $22,000 check on the Crocker-Woolworth National bank of San Francisco, which was cashed at the Nevada bank. His term was reduced to four and a half years by his good conduct.

Becker has been a model prisoner and has never betrayed the wild beast that is under his calm exterior except at times when he has talked of James Cregan, his pal, who squealed. He has amused himself while in prison by drawing designs for entertainment programmes and other ornamental work, which shows plainly that his hand has lost none of its cunning.

There was a report a few months ago that the American Bankers' association would pardon Becker liberally when he came out of San Quentin, but James R. Branch, secretary of the association, denied this, as he said the association depended upon its detectives to protect its members and not upon subsidizing criminals.

The crime for which Becker has just paid by four and a half years in San Quentin was the raising of a check from $12 to $22,000. Frank S. Seaver, alias A. H. Dean, was the crook who planned the job.

He came out here from Chicago in December, 1895, and with him were Becker, James Cregan of New York and Joe McCusker.

Dean had about $2,500. He opened an office in this city, deposited most of his money in the Nevada bank, drew small checks, made new deposits and in a skillful way became known to the bank officers.

Then he went to Woodland, near the state capital, and bought a twelve dollar draft from the Bank of Woodland drawn on the Crocker-Woolworth bank of San Francisco, and it was turned over by Cregan to Becker, who in five days altered the date and raised the amount from $12 to $22,000.

On Dec. 17 Dean deposited this draft at the Nevada bank to his credit and on the following day drew a check against it for $22,000 and received the entire amount in cash.

The forgery was only discovered at the end of the month, when the Crocker-Woolworth bank sent its monthly account to the Woodland bank. By that time the spoil had been divided among the four men, and they had scattered.

Dean and McCusker were soon caught in Minneapolis, and Becker and Cregan were arrested in San Francisco. The latter were released, as no charge could be made against them. They were preparing to go to Guatemala, when Dean, who had made a vain appeal to Becker and Cregan for more money to hire a lawyer, confessed to Captain of Detectives Lees of this city.

Thereupon Becker and Cregan were arrested in Newark, N. J., and were taken to San Francisco for trial. McCusker was acquitted, as nothing could be proved against him. Dean turned state's evidence, and Becker and Cregan on the first trial were convicted of forgery and sentenced to life terms.

On the second trial the jury disagreed, and on the third Cregan "squealed" and was allowed to go free. Becker saw that the game was up and pleaded guilty, with the stipulation that he was not to get more than seven years' imprisonment. The court kept faith with him.

Becker is proud of his skill as a draftsman, but it was only an accident that made him a forger. He was born in Germany and came to New York with his parents when he was ten. That was in 1857.

He developed so much skill at school with pen and pencil that he was apprenticed to an engraver. He soon developed great skill, but the criminal was in him, for he was in love with a girl, and he forged a check to buy her an engagement ring.

His father was able to square this, and because of his youth he escaped prison. But his sweetheart deserted him, his sister, whom he loved, died, and he consorted with a gang of desperate criminals. His first exploit was in 1872, when with Joe Elliott he succeeded in robbing the Third National bank of Baltimore of $150,000.

Becker fled to France, where he met the very girl for whom he forged a check to buy a ring. She had married a rich jeweler, but Becker induced her to elope with him, and together they went to Turkey, where Becker and several others, including Joe Chapman of London, spread forged paper in many cities and cleaned up a large sum.

They were caught and placed in prison, but all escaped except Chapman, who was basely deserted by his pals.

Becker returned to New York in 1876 and married a Brooklyn girl, who has remained true to him ever since. In 1877 he robbed the Union Trust company of New York of $94,225 by one of his famous forged checks and was caught with his pals. He saved himself by turning state's evidence. Then he went abroad and left a trail of forgeries in Italy.

HER ROMANCE

Seven faded letters and a photograph which I cannot destroy, and yet which brings unshed tears to my eyes when I chance upon it some lonely evening.

A romance with no beginning and no end. Fate brought us together, and I loved her. Fate gave her a great sorrow to bear, and I loved her more and more. Then fate, or madness, parted us. I never knew if she loved me then. I read in her words, her letters, and in her eyes at parting that she dreamed of love, but she was young and lonely—perhaps she only felt my sympathy and grew happy under kindness.

I did not realize at first how impossible my hope was. My youthful dabbling in literature assumed a new importance. I was to lay fame at her feet in place of the wealth I did not possess. My writings were characterized by new energy. The Leader accepted them. She read them and said: "I liked your last sketch. I liked your verses in Saturday's paper." It almost seemed to me that fame had come. I aimed higher. The editor of a monthly magazine published a poem—for it was a poem, being inspired by love of her—and sent with the check a kindly encouraging letter. This was the beginning of my romance, but there was no end.

She was wealthy, while I must hesitate between two scarfs and choose the cheaper one. I must write sometimes what I knew would sell readily, though I knew as truly that the writing was not good. I was going through the university with the minimum assistance from home, and literature in manuscript does not pass current for board. The struggle was unpleasant, but not hopeless. And what a goal to strive toward! Oh, Janet, I hope you may never know how one man loved you!

Then her uncle came. How clearly he showed me what was "not advisable" and how the world looks at these matters. Janet is young, and she was lonely when she knew you first. Alas, I realized that he was right! Janet does not yet love you. Will you be cruel enough to make her love you if you can? I made no promise, but I could not forget "cruel to Janet." And yet my love was cruelty. Fame is so far away from man, hunger and storm so near. I used to think that if I had won Janet, though I was coward enough to take wealth as a gift from her, I could have made her happy. No one who shall come after can love her more tenderly than I have. But that mad thought has passed.

Our meetings became more formal. The last time I called the piazza was crowded with her uncle's friends. We talked behind the vines where we had sometimes lingered until we were scolded like two children. There were the same vines, the same stars twinkling through the leaves, but Janet and I were changed. I have forgotten if she gave me her hand in greeting. We talked commonplaces and parted like mere acquaintances.

So the romance ended—with no end. Would that we had quarreled. If I had made her jealous and she had sent me away in her anger it would be well. But I loved her too sincerely for that. If I had found her false how easily I could hate her. But the romance has no end. Summers and winters have passed, not many, but long. I have spent several vacations in her city, but have never seen her. A friend of hers is one of my classmates. We often meet officially, but her name is never mentioned.

My ambition is exhausted. My home is distant. I have friends, but to them I am only a clever failure. They cannot guess that even youth may have a history.

When I met Janet I was not wealthy. Now I am worse. Mrs. Osmond, who provides the shingles above on which the March rain is just now drumming so musically, and who clears up my desk once a week by throwing valuable papers in the wastebasket, has asked me, "Could you let me have a little money soon?" Mrs. Osmond is tragically polite, but she's businesslike. Mrs. McKoon, whose plain but honest board is supposed to be paid for in advance, has begun to place my little "memorandum of account" in obtrusive attitudes by my plate and call attention to it by a blockhouse of glasses and butter dish. The mail is unpleasantly full of business communications these days. I used to wait for the postman, hoping Janet's letter would come today.

There are only seven of them, and a memory. And still the romance has no end. I will graduate in June. My diploma is forthcoming, though my heart knows that for the last two years I have done little work worthy of any reward. I shall graduate in June. And what then? What should I become rich for, if I could? There is the army. Once I hoped to be an officer. But a private does not starve, and a B. A. ought in time to merit chevrons. This is worth the effort. In the quiet and monotony of the life I might forget what is so sweetly bitter to remember. And if war should come, the shut in energy of life would find an outlet.

But if I should walk in the city and see her once more I think the madness would win. How love and pride, or love and reason, would war together! But still the romance has no end, since it had no beginning.

An Extremist.
"Fm! Here's a man who attacks the Golden Rule."

"That's going too far. Why isn't he satisfied, like other people, with disagreeing in practice?" Brooklyn Life.

READ THIS.

Jacksonville, Ill., Sept. 25, 1902.—Nearly three years ago, with a second attack of serious illness, I was surprised to learn that I had diabetes. Providentially I was led to procure a bottle of Dr. E. W. Hall's Specific for Kidney and Bladder Troubles, known as a TEXAS WONDER. Less than half of the bottle effected a complete and permanent cure. Consequently I believe it to be a medicine of very great value.

CURED HEMORRAGES OF THE LUNGS.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake, of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Kidney Cure, and my lungs are now as sound as a bell. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." J. A. Obermeyer, City drug store.

THE DEADLY P. LINE.

(From the Inland Printer.)

Some deadish printer is my secret foe. He has a trick that fills me up with woe. And out his galore. I wrote a sonnet to my lady's hair, And said that "only with it can compare etalon shrill in outwep vobek xziffit!" —This made me sore.

A thrilling romance, too, I penned one day. On the last page. The villain told why he did seek to slay. "I sought his life," quoth he, "not in the fray."

But helmet off, because he once did say: "vibgkij xziffit, ('shrdlu shrdlu cmfw —That made me rage.

And forthwith to the editor I wrote, With angry pen.

Correcting the mistake in a brief note. Of how and when.

"Was printed; yet an added horror smote, As over the correction I did gloat; 'MIST-ALL EDS-AJT—Bury on inside page."

—I was mad then.

Could I but have this wretch to work my will.

For one short hour.

I'd boil him in hot pitch, or, better still, Had I the power,

Above the fiery furnace have him grill, Altho' alone to shriek in wordless wail; "vibgkij cmfwv etalon shrdlu tao."

Forevermore.

A NEW JERSEY EDITOR'S TESTIMONIAL.

M. T. Lynch, editor of the Philadelphia Record, writes: "I have used many kinds of medicines for coughs and colds in my family, but never anything so good as Foley's Honey and Tar. I cannot say too much in praise of it." J. A. Obermeyer, City drug store.

One of the most important requirements in a medicine to be given to small children should be that it is pleasant to take. Bad tasting medicines disturb the stomach, destroy the appetite and it is extremely difficult to get children to take them. The pleasant flavor of the Certain Cure for dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness, pleases the most sensitive persons and is the ideal laxative for young children. 25, 50c and $1 bottles sold by Lee P. Allcott, druggist.

FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS

Mrs. Winslow's Sooting Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. 25 cents per bottle.

FEET SWOLLEN TO IMMENSE SIZE.

"I had kidney trouble so bad that I could not walk," says J. F. Cox, of Valley View, Ky. "My feet were swollen to immense size and I was confined to my bed and physicians were unable to give me any relief. My doctor finally prescribed Foley's Kidney Cure, which made a well man of me." A. J. Obermeyer, City drug store.

For a bilious attack take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and a quick cure is certain. For sale by all druggists.

DOCTORS COULD NOT HELP HER.

"I had kidney trouble for years," writes Mrs. W. H. Cox, of Washington, Wash. "and the doctors could not help me. I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and the very first dose gave me relief and I am now cured. I cannot say too much for Foley's Kidney Cure." J. A. Obermeyer, City drug store.

"The most singular painting I ever saw," said the Rev. George R. Savage to several men who were discussing art, "was opened by the late T. B. Peterson, the Philadelphia publisher. I have often wondered what became of it after his death and have often thought that I would like to own it. It wasn't a great work of art as the critic might view it, but it appealed to me very strongly. It was by an obscure painter, whose name I don't even remember. The subject was a German cathedral, with a tower rising in bold relief, and in the tower was a clock. A hole had been cut in the canvas to accommodate the face of the clock. The thing was so skillfully done that in looking at this picture one would not suspect that a real clock figured in it, for it was a very large canvas, but on the hour the clock would strike in such a tone as to give the impression of great distance to accord with the perspective of the picture. The face of the clock, which was of French make, was quite small, and the deep muffled tone was very effective."—Philadelphia Record.

A NATURAL RESULT

It is very reasonable to suppose if the foundation of a structure was removed that the building itself is bound to come down. This same principle can be applied to disease. Take remove the cause of sickness, and the illness leaves of itself. Dyspepsia, indigestion, sickheadache and biliousness have their foundation in stomach disorders. Remove this weakness and the other symptoms are no more. There is one cure for this that all druggists sell for 25c per box, it is called Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills. They get right at the beginning of these diseases and make the cure by taking away the cause of it. We will send a small box free by mail, or a large box on receipt of 25c. Address Dr. Gunn, Philadelphia, Pa.

George M. Burrus and daughter Inez, were up from Bluffs yesterday. Mr. Burrus is just recovering from an illness of nine weeks caused by blood poisoning, the result of running a rusty nail into his foot. He is yet somewhat lame, but hopes to be as good as new in due time.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of Centenary church will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Miss McGinnis, 311 East College avenue. Miss Mamie Melton, a missionary from Japan, will be present at this meeting. Do not forget to bring mite boxes.

Rev. R. F. Thrapp and family returned Thursday, after a month's vacation spent at Beloit and Lake Geneva, Wis. Recently he has been at the Illinois convention of Christian churches held at Eureka. The regular preaching services of the Christian church will be resumed Sunday. Mr. Thrapp returns greatly benefited by his vacation.

At 2 p. m. Saturday the property at the corner of Oak street and N. Main will be sold at auction at court house steps.

Uncle David Winter was in the city yesterday looking after business matters. His success in rearing fine sheep is well known, but this season has been bad for him. Out of over forty fine lambs he has lost all but sixteen by some kind of a disease caused, he thinks, by worms. He said he had learned that David Stansfield, of Murrayville precinct, had a remedy and he had sent for the article or receipt to make it. The loss Mr. Winter has sustained is heavy and he says he has lost some animals during previous years, but not so many.

THE MATRIMONIAL RECORD.

BROWN-HILL.

Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wheeler in Crookston, Minn., Charles W. Brown and Miss Nellie Hill, both of this city, were married in the presence of a limited number of friends of the hostess. The house was handsomely decorated in pink and white and presented a lovely appearance. Mrs. Charles Loring skillfully rendered the wedding march from Lohengrin and as the stirring tones of the instrument softened down the twain to be made one appeared before Rev. George E. Satterly, pastor of the First M. E. church, who in an impressive manner pronounced the words of the ceremony, which made those before him husband and wife. Mrs. Wheeler is a sister of the bride and their father, John Hill, of this city, was present.

Of these young people little need be said, as both are so well known in this city, where pretty much all their lives have been spent. Mr. Brown is the son of the late J. Wiley Brown and is the efficient city engineer and superintendent of the city's electric light plant and has much to do with the public works of Jacksonville. His eminent ability and superior talent have been displayed on many occasions and he is recognized as a person of authority on many important questions, while in social and business circles he is deservedly popular.

The fair bride is the daughter of John Hill, well known as one of the prominent capitalists of the place. She has lived here nearly all her life and has won a host of friends in many ways and she will prove a worthy helpmeet to the gentleman so fortunate in securing her for a life companion. She is a lady of many accomplishments and is useful and popular in society and both will have the congratulations of many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown left on the 9:30 p. m. train and will spend a few days in Minneapolis and Chicago on the way to their home in this city.

SMITH-NOLTE.

The pleasant home of Mrs. Jane B. Joy on West College avenue was the scene Thursday night of a simple impressive marriage ceremony, which in its very simplicity was at once beautiful and solemn. About fifty guests were present to witness the service which united in marriage Miss Clara D. Nolte, of this city, to Bergen Steele Smith, of Humboldt, Kan. The house was tastefully adorned with flowers and green foliage; the parlor in which the bridal party stood was decorated with asparagus and hydrangeas. At 7 o'clock the bride and groom-elect walked before Rev. Dr. Post, who said a few earnest kindly words and pronounced before them the sacred promises which made them man and wife. Beside them stood Charles Joy, Jr., who held up in his little hand a white aster containing the ring. With him stood George Dunbaugh, Jr.; both are cousins of the bride. Rev. Dr. Hayden closed the ceremony with prayer, and then while the friends were extending congratulations Miss Louise Smith, at the piano, played some of the bride's favorite selections.

The bride was gown in white Paris muslin, simply made. The whole wedding was in accord with her own unassuming tastes. It was a pretty home wedding and by it Jacksonville loses one who is not only loved by her many friends, but who is known throughout the city for her musical ability. The reputation of her voice is one which few can enjoy and enjoy so deservedly. In sacred work she was especially fortunate and every congregation in the city has been made happier by her singing. With all her musical talent she is a charming woman in every other way, and will make a gracious hostess in her own home.

Mr. Smith is a prominent merchant of Humboldt, Kan., and will take his bride to a home there. Among those present from out of the city were Mrs. George J. Dunbaugh and daughter, Miss Ruth and son George, of Pueblo, Colo.; Miss Smith and Miss Graham, Patterson, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hoke, sister of the bride, Parsons, Kan.; Mrs. Newell and Miss Newell, Pueblo, Colo.; Allen Joy, Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. French, Chapin.

Miss Gladys Viera entertained a company of friends Wednesday evening at the elegant home of A. F. Franks on North Main street, in honor of Mrs. Lena Middlekauff, of Canton. Those present were Misses Lena Middlekauff, Gladys Viera, Antoinette Pires, Rena Runkel, Anna Day, Florence Smith, Edith Vasconcellos, Etta Viera, Messrs. Carl Joaquin, Harry Benson, John Day, Farrell Turley, Charles DeFreitas, John Arenz, Frank Smith, Joseph Pires.

HE CURED THE LITTLE GIRL.

Mr. Herman Muller, senior member of the firm of Muller & Leykom, extensive lumber and general merchants at Polar, Langdale Co., Wis., says: "My little girl was troubled with a bronchial cough and we tried several remedies without satisfactory results. We finally gave her a few doses of Harts' Honey and Horehound, which quickly cured her." Harts' Honey and Horehound is a never failing cure for all throat and lung troubles to which children are subject. It is very pleasant to take and the absence of any deleterious or dangerous drugs makes it especially valuable for small children. 25c, 50c and $1 bottles. Sold by Lee P. Allcott, druggist.

SALVATION ARMY.

Adjutant Joe Garabed, better known as Joe the Turk, will visit this city Saturday, Sunday and Monday in the interest of the Salvation Army. At all meetings Mr. Garabed will appear in full Turkish costume. All are invited to attend these meetings.

AT SPRINGFIELD

Interest in Central Golf Association Meet Centers Around Individual Players' Contest—The Events Thursday.

Springfield, Sept. 3.

The feature of Thursday's play in the Central Illinois Golf association was the playing of Wilfred Arnold, of Galesburg, who played 9 holes in 34, equalling the record of the local links and who holed a ball down at the eighth hole in a single drive, something that has never been done before and as it was simply a chance drive, the play will not soon be duplicated.

Interest now centers in the individual players contest, which began Wednesday and in which A. J. Lester, Springfield; C. D. Center, Quincy; W. S. Niles, Peoria; J. H. Ellwood, Champaign, and L. J. Hubble, Springfield, won the first round, having drawn byes.

In the approaching and putting contest Douglas P. Cadwallader and W. H. Diller, of Springfield, and Wilfred Arnold, of Galesburg, tied.

The contest for the Nil Desperandum cup began Thursday and the contest for the Na Muckle Doon cup begins to day.

Interest has increased during the week and large galleries of spectators follow the players in the various contests.

CIRCUS HERE TO DAY

Conditions Favorable for Large Crowd—Arrived Over the J. & St. L.

The circus trains arrived in the city about 2:30 over the J. & St. L. this morning from Litchfield, where they showed to an immense crowd Thursday. They commenced unloading promptly at the East State street and North street crossings of the C. & P. & St. L. yards and soon after daylight under their perfect system of management the wagons were rolling along West State street to the West Side ball park, disturbing by their rumble the morning naps of late sleepers.

Both at the show grounds and at the depot the small boy was much in evidence and he was undecided what part of the maneuvering was the most interesting, the unloading of the wagons or the putting up of the tents. The weather is perfect for a large crowd and the country roads could not be in better condition, so that the circus management may look for an unusually large attendance.

THE BIRTH RECORD.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott, of Legundo, Colo., Aug. 26, a son. Mrs. Scott will be remembered by many Jacksonville people as Miss Marie Thomas, of the class of 1900, Jacksonville Female academy.
